

DRAFTSNAP · SNAPSHOT, NOT A WEEKLY SHEET

DraftSnap

What the engines actually say to draft.

12-team full PPR redraft. Four engines. One US calendar day.

ChatGPT, Perplexity, Google AI Overviews, and Gemini, quoted — not blended into a fake consensus score. Not FantasyPros. No NFL marks.

FORMAT	12-team full PPR redraft · 1QB 2RB 2WR 1TE 1FLEX 1DST 1K · 6 bench. Not dynasty. Not superflex.
ENGINES	ChatGPT · Perplexity · Google AI Overviews · Gemini

How to use this at the draft

One PDF. One US calendar day. Quoted answers, not paraphrases. Open it on a phone next to your draft app. This is not a weekly sheet and it will not update after kickoff.

Cited

Named as a recommendation or listed as a fit for that prompt (board, sleeper list, bust list, or “draft him”).

Mentioned

Named in the answer but not recommended. Presence without endorsement.

Absent

Not named. Absence is a valid finding. TBD means the cell was not captured — not “absent.”

- Rounds 1–2: heatmap + consensus first-round page. Winner of a cell is the first named recommended player.
- Middle rounds: sleepers cited on 3+ engines, then mid-round values (prompt 11) in the quoted-answers pages.
- Avoid list: busts page. If all four engines named the same avoid, that is the row to read twice.
- QB / TE / DST / K: timing page. A strategy pick (“wait until the last two rounds”) is a valid winner.
- We do not average cells into a GEO score or a fantasy score. Counts and quotes only.
- Re-run the 12 prompts yourself later. They are printed verbatim. A later day is a different snapshot.

Format lock. 12-team, full PPR, 1QB 2RB 2WR 1TE 1FLEX 1DST 1K, 6 bench. Redraft. Not dynasty. Not superflex. Engines that wander into another format are quoted as they spoke; the lock does not rewrite them.

Frozen prompt set

Pasted verbatim into each engine. Buyer/drafter prompts — what someone types — not “tell me about my league.” Do not change after the first engine run.

Consensus first round

Players cited on prompts 01–03 (first overall, round-1 RB, round-1 WR). Ranked by how many of the four engines named them on those prompts. Empty until captures land.
